

About the Faculty:

Established in 2021, The Faculty of Educational Sciences is considered the latest faculty in Al-Ahliyya Amman University. The faculty was established in response to modern higher education needs and trends locally and globally. The faculty currently includes two bachelor programs, Special Education, which was established in 2007. Physical and Health Education, which was established in 2018. Those bachelor programs were previously part of the Arts & Sciences Faculty before moving to the Faculty of Educational Sciences. The faculty is currently working on developing new programs in the field of educational sciences.

The faculty also includes higher diploma programs in Digital instructional Design, which was established in 2021, this program is considered a great opportunity for schoolteachers to learn how to transform educational curriculum into hybrid digital subjects and how to design digital educational programs which enables them to be ready to deal with the new digital educational system.

Faculty Programs:

- Bachelor in Special Education.
- Bachelor in Physical and Health Education.
- Higher Diploma in Digital instructional Design.
- Higher Diploma in Teacher Preparation.

Admission Requirement

Admission requirements for the Bachelor's degree in the Special Education program include a General Certificate of Education (Tawjihi) or equivalent certificates with an average. Not less than 60% or equivalent, in the Scientific, Scientific (Medical, Engineering, pure Sciences), Literary, Sharia, Comprehensive Health Education, Information Management. (Industrial, Agricultural, Nursing, commercial, Hotel, and Home Economics/2019 and below), and Home Economics/2020 or above streams, or equivalent foreign certificates.

Students who pass the comprehensive exam of Community Colleges are also accepted and entitled to enroll in this program. Provided that the students were studying corresponding disciplines and their average is not less than 68%. Community college courses are equated in accordance with the University's instructions

The Faculty Members:

The faculty consists of experienced, competent and professional lecturers whom are well accomplished in their fields of specialty where they share their knowledge and experience using the latest approaches and educational methods at top-of-the-line classrooms, labs and equipment.

Language of Instruction:

Arabic is the official language used to teach all specializations of the faculty.

Field of recruitment:

Special Education:

- The Ministry Of Education.
- The Ministry Of Social Development.
- The Ministry Of Health.
- Schools.
- The Higher Council For The Rights Of Persons With Disabilities.
- Special Education Center.
- Physiotherapy And Occupational Therapy Centers.
- Psychiatric Treatment Center.
- National And International Non-governmental Organizations.
- Rehabilitation Centers.
- Charitable Organizations.

Physical And Health Education:

- Managing Fitness And Health Center.
- Professional Physical Trainer.
- Health Care Centers.
- Professional Trainers In The Military Sector.
- Professional Trainers At Athletic Sports Teams.
- Teaching Physical Education At Public And Private Schools.

Conditions of Admission in the Higher Diploma Program

For an applicant to be accepted into the Higher Diploma Program, the student must have completed a bachelor's degree from a university that is recognized by the Ministry of Higher Education in Jordan, and with an Acceptable GPA or higher in any field of study.

Field of recruitment for Higher Diploma:

- The ministry of education and the ministry of higher education.
- Public and private schools and universities.
- Institutes, centers and educational institutions.
- E-learning centers and learning resources.
- National center for curriculum development
- Department of examinations and tests.
- Work in the field of vocational training.
- Work in developing and producing instructional materials.

Study Plans:

Special Education:

University requirements	(24) CH
Faculty requirements	(21) CH
Major requirements	(87) CH

Physical and Health Education:

University requirements	(24) CH
Faculty requirements	(21) CH
Major requirements	(87) CH

Digital Instructional Design - High Diploma:

Compulsory requirements	(18) CH
Elective requirements	(6) CH

Laboratories:

The faculty contains laboratories for physical and health education and digital instructional design programs equipped with the latest technologies, means and devices, which are as follows:

Digital Instructional Design Lab:

The Digital Instructional Design lab is one of the educational facilities dedicated to integrating innovative technology with teaching and learning. The lab contains 26 state-of-the-art computers and a range of software specialized in digital instructional design. Students can use the lab for creative projects and the faculty members can use the lab for teaching.

Exercise Physiology Lab:

The laboratory was developed to enhance the educational learning process for students of physical and health education and to allow faculty members to conduct laboratory tests within the university, and the possibility of using it to enhance the process of preparing scientific research.

Centers:

Counseling and Special Education Center:

The Counseling and Special Education Center started its work at Al-Ahliyyah Amman University in the beginning of 2015. Since its establishment, the center has adopted a non-profit service policy, as a leading initiative together with the other university working centers, to serve students in the different aspects of their university life from the academic, psychological or social perspectives. The center also provides services to the local community in accordance with the mission of Al-Ahliyyah Amman University and its goals.

Al-Ahliyya
Amman
University

Faculty of Educational Sciences

Faculty of Educational Sciences

For more information

Phone: 0096253500211 Ext.: 2566

E-mail: dean_fes@ammanu.edu.jo

www.ammanu.edu.jo