

Overview

The AAU Faculty of Law was established at the same time of the opening of the University in 1990. It includes two Departments; the Department of Public Law and the Department of Private Law which were founded in 2001. The Faculty seeks to implement its study plan to grant the Bachelor Degree in Law after completing (141) credit hours. The Faculty aims to qualify its graduates to occupy various positions in the field of law such as judges, lawyers, counselors, members in law enforcement or legal officers in public or private departments. After accomplishing their study, they are qualified to practice their knowledge, seeking to achieve equality and justice and defending rule of law in our Jordanian and Arab communities as well as in the international forums.

Conditions of Admission to the Bachelor Degree:

The applicant should have obtained the General Secondary Certificate or its equivalent with a general average that shall not be less than 65%.

Faculty Members:

AAU has provided its academic programs with distinguished professors who are known for excellent academic and professional reputation with various educational ranks.

Language of Instruction:

Arabic is the main language adopted in teaching. However, English language is sometimes used in teaching some courses.

The Specializations of the Faculty of Law for the Master Degree:

- Master Program in Law
- Master degree in criminal law
- Master degree in arbitration in construction contracts

Facilities & Services:

At the Faculty of Law, specialized halls have been prepared to implement scientific academic programs and co-curricular activities, such as the Hall of the late Judge Moussa Al-Saket for Mock Trials and legal clinic, which uses technology in presenting legal issues.

The Faculty of Law introduced the Master Program in Law at the beginning of the academic year 2005-2006, master degree in criminal law at 2019, and Master degree in arbitration in construction contracts at 2021, all of them are on the basis of dissertation or comprehensive exam. These programs aimed to prepare specialized legal staff.

The Faculty grants its students the Master Degree in Law according to the thesis track or a comprehensive exam track. The program seeks to develop the teaching and learning process and consider a particular attention to teaching methods, as it depends on the latest techniques, especially those based on dialogue, discussion and criticism in addition to presenting applied cases and dealing with them collectively and finding legal solutions for the issues they include.

Conditions of Admission to the Master Degree:

For the student to be admitted to the postgraduate program, he/she shall have obtained the Bachelor Degree or its equivalent with a general rating of no less than "good" from a recognized university in the field of specialization or one of the related fields, that is, his/her cumulative average shall be 68% or above or his/her general rating shall not be less than very good in the higher diploma. It is also required that the student shall have obtained the Bachelor Degree by regular study.

The Distribution of the Study Plan for the BA (141) as follows:

University requirements:	(24) CH
Faculty requirements:	(24) CH
Major requirements:	(93) CH

The Distribution of the Study Plan for the MA (33) as follows:

Compulsory requirements	(24) CH
Thesis	(9) CH

The Faculty of Law

